Call to Action

Taken from the Federal Public Service's Call to Action on Anti-Racism, Equity, and Inclusion, the WFG recognizes that leadership in community arts organizations must be more diverse. Unless intentional prioritization occurs, we will fall short on effectively serving our community. We have an obligation to our employees, and to our community, to do better by ensuring that we are putting the full capacity of our entire pool of talent at the service of filmmakers and cinema goers.

We actively seek applicants with a diversity of perspectives. We prioritize amending the historic underrepresentation of Indigenous, Black, and People of Colour within arts organisations generally, and the WFG in particular.

As per the Federal Public Service's Call to Action on Anti-Racism, Equity, and Inclusion, The WFG will be offering transparency on reporting the following data publicly.

How many Indigenous employees and Black and other racialized employees:

- joined your organization in 2021/2022 compared to the total number of employees who joined in 2021/2022;
- left your organization in 2021/2022 compared to the total number of employees who left in 2021/2022;
- were appointed to Executive positions in 2021/2022 compared to the total number of employees appointed to Executive positions in 2021/2022?

Persons who wish to have their employment equity status considered at the time of interviews should self-identify in their applications.
